

JASON NUNES

Jason began his interest in the marching activity over a decade ago, starting with his high school program in Gainesville, Florida and then moving on to the Drum Corps activity with the Magic of Orlando Drum and Bugles Corps in 2003 and 2004. He went off to finish his marching career with nine-time world champions The Cadets Drum and Bugles Corps in 2005-2006. After being done with his marching career, he has continued to teach between the fall marching activity, winter guard and drum line groups as well as drum corps during the summer.

Jason's teaching experience began straight out of high school at the age of eighteen and has been teaching year-round ever since. Between the years of 1999-2009, he has brought eight state titles under his belt (between three separate schools) out of the nine FMBC state championships he has attended.

During the summer of 2007, he had spent the summer touring with the Teal Sound Drum and Bugle Corps as a visual technician. He has also skimmed by the WGI and BOA scene, including teaching and/or designing for groups that have both made finals and medaled at regionals in their respective classes.

Now residing in Boca Raton, Florida, Jason currently writes drill for high school marching bands, indoor drum lines, winter guards as well as for STRYKE Independent for the 2009-2010 seasons. He will also be offering his services to the Boston Crusaders for the upcoming 2010 winter camps.

Jason looks forward to a promising future of designing within the activity, as well as the betterment of young minds through his teaching.
